

AGAMA DESIGN COLLECTIVE

Brief for Website Development

About Agama

Agama Design Collective is an architecture practice established in 2020, based in Kozhikode, Kerala, led by Principal Architect Kiran P. We work primarily across Kerala.

Agama is a small, boutique practice focusing on residential and hospitality architecture, with a special interest in vacation homes, farmhouses, farmstays, resorts and bamboo architecture.

We intentionally remain a small team so that we can take on a limited number of projects and give each one close attention.

Our Philosophy

The name Agama refers to the transmission of knowledge from the past, traditionally associated with sacred architecture and practices.

This idea forms the foundation of our design philosophy.

We believe architecture should learn from the past, respond to the present and remain open to the future.

We do not follow a fixed architectural style. Instead, we try to find a balance between the character of the place, the aspirations of the client and the possibilities of contemporary design.

Our aim is to create spaces that give people a sense of belonging and a connection with nature.

Our Approach

Every project begins with understanding the site and its context. We study the landscape, climate, orientation, existing vegetation, surroundings and other site conditions before developing the design.

We also place strong importance on understanding the client's lifestyle, aspirations and budget. Our philosophy is not imposed on the client; we try to find a balance between our design thinking and what the client wants.

We believe in responsible and sustainable design through appropriate planning, materials, climate response and construction methods.

We have explored materials and techniques including bamboo, rammed earth and mud construction, but we do not use a material simply because it is fashionable. The material should make sense for the project and its context.

Landscape is an integral part of our architecture. We aim to create a strong relationship between the building and the land rather than treating landscape as an afterthought.

We also value the client's investment and look for ways to optimise construction costs without compromising functionality or design quality.

Our Positioning

Agama should be perceived as a:

Boutique + Thoughtful + Design-driven Architecture Practice

We want to be premium in design quality, approachable in our client relationships and experimental when the project allows it.

We are not looking to become a large-volume firm. We prefer to work on selective, meaningful projects where we can give the design the attention it deserves.

The Kind of Projects We Want

Our strongest areas of interest are:

High Priority:

Vacation Homes • Farmhouses / Farmstays • Bamboo Architecture

Medium Priority:

Bespoke Residences • Resorts • Boutique Hotels • Cafés & Restaurants • Sustainable Developments • Restoration

An ideal Agama project would be a vacation home or retreat on a natural site, where architecture, landscape, local materials and nature can come together to create a meaningful experience.

In One Line

Agama creates architecture rooted in place, responsive to people, and open to the future.
